IMPERIAL BOTTLE PLANT APPROACHES HIGH MARK

Payroll in Three Years Nears Amount Set for Five

INCREASING GRADUALLY

Each Year Better Than One Before--Glass Conditions Remain Steady

Within three years the Imeprial Bottle factory has approached to early $20,000 of the mark set for ve years in its pay roll. Not only hat but in each of the three years here has been a gradual and noteworthy increase in the payroll which his year advanced to the grand figre of $173,045.63. Information of he increase was embodied in a letter ecently written by Superintendent I. J. Booth of the local plant to Wiam Kirk, the secretary of the Imerial Improvement Fund committee. y agreement with the committee, ffected when the Imperial factory ocated here, a payroll of $100,000 as to be attained yearly with $500,-00 for five years.

This year's total payroll is larger han for any of the three previous ears. It is better than last year. he next best, by about $16,000. The ear closed September 1.

The first year the plant operated ere the payroll was approximately 148,000. The second year it was approximately $157,000. To the first September this year the total is pproximately $478,045, or about 22,000 of the $500,000 mark for fiive ears.

At present the Imperial factory is perating steadily. Superintendent ooth looks for no marked change in ass conditions during the present ear and says everything indicates steady trade. That means that by e end of the fourth year the $500-00 mark will be far surpassed.

According to agreements reached a conference of bottle men last mmer at Atlantic City, the workg season hereafter will be for 11 onths. August will be the vacation onth. Heretofore the union agreeent has called for ten working onths, and July and August were th vacation months.

Presbyterian Temperance Committee Adopts New Tactics

The permanent committee on temperance of the Presbyterian church of the United States, appointed at the general assembly in Atlantic City last May, will on October 21 make application in the Allegheny county court to become a charter organization.

WORK ON STATION

Cement Walk Being Laid Around New Structure

IS GOOD WORKMANSHIP

In accord with the thoroughness shown in the constructionn of the framework of the new station, the Pennsylvania Railroad is having the Charleroi Lumber Company now lay a concrete walk around the new station. The Lumber company has the contract for building the new station. The walk will entirely surround the station and extend a considerable distance along the railroad tracks in both directions.

It is impossible to say at the present time just when the new station will be finished and ready to occupy, but it is not thought that it will be completed until some time in December. It will be one of the most beautiful, as well as one of the most thoroughly constructed owned by the Pennsylvania Railroad in any surburban town anywhere. It is thought the cost will not be less than $30,000 The idea of a formal dedication has been practically given up.

Guy Moffitt, a brother of Controller John Moffitt was on Monday admitted as a member of the Washington county bar. He has successfully passed the state board of law examiners, and has already been admitted to practice before the supreme court of the state.

CANDIDATES SPEND TOTAL OF $18,000.00

Largest Sum is Spent by Republican Office Seekers---Much Money Paid Out to Watchers at the Polls

With the filing of the accounts of all the candidates whose expenses exceeded $50, the approximate cost of the campaign to the respective candidates, successful and unsuccessful has been shown. According to the accounts now on file the sum total reaches the sum of $18,023.18. Of this sum $14,383.81 was expended by the Republican candidates, and the balance, $3,639.39, was spent by the Democratic-Keystone candidates.

As each account must give in detail what the money was expended for, the public records reveals all the expenditures of the candidates. The most of the money was spent for advertising, and traveling expenses by the candidates in making their canvass. Many of the candidates hired watchers, which the law permits, and these watchers were supposed to work at the polls for the interests of the candidates they represented. From the records it is shown that many watchers were employed in Charleroi.

Several candidates expended over $1,000 in their canvass. Others varied from between $100 and $200 for the important county offices up to the maxim amount, which was $1,584.95, expended by S. M. Downer, the successful candidate for treasurer. The average was perhaps from $500 to $700, which represents about the sum necessary to make an ordinary canvass for county office for the Republican nominations.

NEW MINISTER SAYS HE WILL PREACH GOSPEL

Methodist Episcopal Minister Talks Plain to Congregation

ANY KICKS, TELL HIM

Rev. Albert H. Davies, the newly appointed minister of the Methodist Episcopal church at Monessen, preached his first sermon to the members of his congregation Sunday. Rev. Davies took as his text "The Father's Pleasure" and the sermon was a masterly one, thoroughly appreciated by all who heard it. During the progress of the discourse the minister took opportunity to make a few observations anent his proposed course as pastor.

"I propose to preach the gospel according to the Bible and the doctrines of the Methodist Episcopal church" saidRev. Davies, "and if any of you have any objections to my work as pastor just come forward and state the case and I will depart as any dignified minister of the gospel should."

In addition to making the enigmatical remark that "the prospects were not alluring" the speaker gave some very practical hints concerning the duties of the pastor and congregation, and intimated that he should expect both to do their part.

VICTIM OF WIRE

Washington Boy Electrocuted at Arc Light Pole

RECEIVES HEAVY SHOCK

Edwin Brownlee, 14 years old, son of C. U. Brownlee of Washington, was instantly killed Monday evening by inadventantly taking hold of a chain that was hanging from an electric light pole on the streets. The chain was heavily charged with electricity, and fully 2,200 volts passed through the boy's body. The chain was used for raising and lowering the arc light, and it is supposed that it became charged by coming in contact with a wire from which the insulated covering had been worn off.

Rumored Holdings Of Two Companies Will be Acquired

THIS COUNTY IS CENTER

Operations to Begin on Big Scale According to Story from County Seat

Assuming greater proportions daily the movement of the United States Steel Corporation to acquire through the H. C. Frick Coke Company, its fuel end, now bids fair to take in practically the whole of Washington county. The latest report of the supposed dealings of the big steel concern having as its source the county seat, is that in addition to the coal land purchased from the Pittsburg Coal Company and the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke Company, the Steel Corporation will acquire by purchase or merger the holdings of the Lackawanna Steel company and the Lilley Coal and Coke company. If the rumor is authentic and the United States Steel corporation really does effect a merger, Washington county will be made the center of the gigantic coal operations of the big concern.

Much of the 8,000 acres of coking coal secured from the Pittsburg Coal Company and subsidiary companies by direct purchase lies in Washington county. For this purchase a mortgage for $18,000,000 was filed at the county seat of this county a few days ago. The Steel company thus acquires a big percentage of the coking coal in this county and it does not seem unlikely that it would be estate to secure the remainder should chance offer. And chance has apparently offered.

It is given out unauthoritively at the county seat that Controller J. H. Moffitt, one of the heavy stockholders and officials of the Lilley Coal and Coke Company, has been in conference with officials of the Steel company looking towards the transfer of its coal holdings over to the Steel company, and will cease to be a corporation in itself. It has been the plan of the Lilley Coal and Coke

DOCTORS FAILED TO HELP HER

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Pound, Wis.—"I am glad to announce that I have been cured of dyspepsia and female troubles by your medicine. I had been troubled with both for fourteen years and consulted different doctors, but failed to get any relief. After using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier I can say I am a well woman. I can't find words to express my thanks for the good your medicine has done me. You may publish this if you wish."—Mrs. HERMAN SIETH, Pound, Wis.

The success of Lydia E Pinkham's [illegible] made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills, and suffering women owe it to themselves to at least give this medicine a trial. Proof is abundant that it has cured thousands of others, and why should it not cure you?

If you want special advice write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for it. It is free and always helpful.

Both Delighted.

Two elderly gentlemen, both decently clothed in sober black, were sitting side by side in a Euclid avenue car, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer. Each was reading a morning paper Suddenly one of the men uttered an exclamation of pleasure and the other peered at him over his glasses.

"I see here," explained the first with a beaming face, "that Mr. B, who died last week, has left his entire fortune to various charitable enterprises. This will be a surprise to his many relatives. It is to me a glad surprise in my case, for I am the pastor of a church to which he has left $10,000."

The second man looked at the article and his face, too became wreathed in smiles. "God bless him!" he exclaimed heartily "All to charitable institutions in spite of his relatives! Ah, sir, I like to see money left like that I do, indeed!"

"Are you also a clergyman?"

"No, sir, I am a lawyer."

Same Old Human Nature.

From the fresco paintings of women in Cretan palaces of the period about 2000 B. Queer Face Facts.

"Why do you photographers always photograph the left side of the face by preference?"

"Because it's the best looking," was the prompt reply "The left side of the face is always the more regular, and it always shows least the marks of time.

Electric Bells Protect Orchards.

So familiar have electric bells become to most of us that even their sound at unexpected times or in unusual places rarely startles us. Not so with birds, to which the sudden ringing of a bell on a tree or a post means something far more uncanny than any scarecrow flapping in the wind Knowing this, the head master of an Austrian school has patented an electric scarecrow system in which a clock makes the connections at irregular intervals to electric bells scattered over the orchard.

Ready With Suggestion.

A superintendent of a city Sunday school endeavored to give the summer meetings added attractiveness. Upon a certain warm Sunday lemonade was served At the close of the service the superintendent announced that slips of paper would be passed round and the pupils allowed to make suggestions as to methods of making the meetings still more attractive One youngster wrote: "Put more sugar in the lemonade"

ing a coat and hat belonging to Peter Mullen, a conductor on the Panhandle road, was fined $1 and costs, and sent three months to jail. The coat and hat were hung up in a coach of the train, and were taken near Burgettstown while Penny was a passenger on the train.

Nick Patch, of Hackett, admitted selling liquor without license, to minors and on Sunday. He was given a total sentence of $600 and costs and four months and ten days in jail.

Max Sewred, a foreigner, charged with passing a danger sign in the mines at Cherry Valley, was fined $1 and costs. Sewred does not appear to be very bright, and was hardly responsible for what he did. He has a wife and three children in the old country

Robush Sacovish, charged with passing a danger board in the mines at Marianna, was fined $25 and costs.

Harry Williams, better known as "Rabbitt" Williams, was again before the court. Rabbit had been on one of his usual sprees and had taken from Mrs. Catherine Engle, of Washington, a gold watch and chain. Rabbit's great fault is his fondness for drink. He has spent the greater part of his time in jail, and when incarcerated is employed as jail cook. He was fined $1 and costs and sent to jail for three months and will be employed at his old trade.

William Farthing, of Monongahela, charged with desertion and non-support, was before the court on an attachment. He was formerly paroled upon his agreement to return to work at the Liggett Spring & Axle works, near Monongahela, where he had been employed, and to support his wife. He violated his parole, did not return to work, did not support his wife, and had gone to Pittsburg, where he was arrested. He was directed to pay so much towards the support of his wife, pay the costs and to give bond in the sum of $500 for the faithful compliance with the order.

Andy Kamkis and John Wicchuff, miners, charged with violating the mining laws by traveling a motor road without permission at Ellsworth entered pleas of guilty. Each were fined $25 and costs.

THE DOCTOR'S QUESTION

Much Sickness Due to Bowel Disorders

A doctor's first question when consulted by a patient is, "Are your bowells regular?" He knows that 98 per cent of illness is attended with inactive bowels and torpid liver, and that this condition must be removed gently and thoroughly before health can be restored.

Rexall Orderlies are a positive, pleasant, and safe remedy for constipation and bowel disorders in general. We are so certain of their great curative value that we promise to return the puchaser's money in every case when they fail to produce entire satisfaction.

Rexall Orderlies are eaten like candy, they act quietly, and aid in producing a soothing, strengthening healing influence on the entire intestinal tract. Goat's Milk Highly Valued.

There are scores of foreign writers and medical experts who advocate the use of goat's milk for infants and invalids In fact there are sanitariums in France and Switzerland that give goat's milk a prominent place in their systems of care The milk is specially recommended for infants because of its similarity in composition to mother's milk.

We Want to See You=====

We'll Treat You Rightly

We know you don't like to be pulled and hauled all over the store, passed through the gauntlet of clerks and finally turned over to the proprietor simply because you don't find what you want, and you don't want some little whippersnapper of a clerk to insist upon your taking what you don't want. You have, doubtlessly been through this ordeal, and vowed that you would never go into that store again. You're right--you don't have to.

Shoes should stand on their merits and a first-class shoe house always has a large enough assortment for a customer to be suited without having something forced on him which he forever dislikes. Come our way. If we cannot possibly suit you we will treat you kindly just the same. One thing certain —if you can't find anything to suit you in our store, you can't find it in Charleroi. And, furthermore, if you don't find that our prices are right, don't spend a cent with us. Fair proposition hey?

IMPERIAL BOTTLE PLANT APPROACHES HIGH MARK

Payroll in Three Years Nears Amount Set for Five

INCREASING GRADUALLY

Each Year Better Than One Before--Glass Conditions Remain Steady

Within three years the Imeprial Bottle factory has approached to nearly $20,000 of the mark set for five years in its pay roll. Not only that but in each of the three years there has been a gradual and noteworthy increase in the payroll which this year advanced to the grand figure of $173,045.63. Information of the increase was embodied in a letter recently written by Superintendent H. J. Booth of the local plant to William Kirk, the secretary of the Imperial Improvement Fund committee. By agreement with the committee, effected when the Imperial factory located here, a payroll of $100,000 was to be attained yearly with $500,000 for five years.

This year's total payroll is larger than for any of the three previous years. It is better than last year. the next best, by about $16,000. The year closed September 1.

The first year the plant operated here the payroll was approximately $148,000. The second year it was approximately $157,000. To the first of September this year the total is approximately $478,045, or about $22,000 of the $500,000 mark for five years.

At present the Imperial factory is operating steadily. Superintendent Booth looks for no marked change in glass conditions during the present year and says everything indicates a steady trade. That means that by the end of the fourth year the $500,000 mark will be far surpassed

According to agreements reached at a conference of bottle men last summer at Atlantic City, the working season hereafter will be for 11 months. August will be the vacation month. Heretofore the union agreement has called for ten working months, and July and August were both vacation months.

FORMER VALLEY MAN WEDS AT HARRISBURG

Announcements have been received here of the wedding on Sunday, October 8, at Harrisburg of Miss Arrieminta G. Gully, and Frank L. Wall, both of Harrisburg. They were married by Rev. B. H. Hart. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Gully, and a well known young woman. The groom is especially well known in this vicinity. He is the son of J. Sutton Wall, of the Department of Internal Affairs, and was born in Monongahela and educated in the public schools of that town. He served with Company A, Tenth Regiment in the Spanish-American war, and practiced civil and mining engineering in Washington and Fayette counties and in New Mexico. Mr. Wall was recently appointed to a position in the State Highway service, under Commissioner E. M. Bigelow.

Charter to Fight Booze

Presbyterian Temperance Committee Adopts New Tactics

The permanent committee on temperance of the Presbyterian church of the United States, appointed at the general assembly in Atlantic City last May, will on October 21 make application in the Allegheny county court to become a charter organization.

This will signalize the opening of a war against the liquor traffic by the Pennsylvania Presbyterians, that within a half year, according to those conspicuous in the movement will have extended throughout the country.

WORK ON STATION

Cement Walk Being Laid Around New Structure

IS GOOD WORKMANSHIP

In accord with the thoroughness shown in the constructionn of the framework of the new station, the Pennsylvania Railroad is having the Charleroi Lumber Company now lay a concrete walk around the new station. The Lumber company has the contract for building the new station. The walk will entirely surround the station and extend a considerable distance along the railroad tracks in both directions.

It is impossible to say at the present time just when the new station will be finished and ready to occupy, but it is not thought that it will be completed until some time in December. It will be one of the most beautiful, as well as one of the most thoroughly constructed owned by the Pennsylvania Railroad in any surburban town anywhere. It is thought the cost will not be less than $30,000 The idea of a formal dedication has been practically given up.

He has successfully passed the state board of law examiners, and has already been admitted to practice before the supreme court of the state.

CANDIDATES SPEND TOTAL OF $18,000.00

Largest Sum is Spent by Republican Office Seekers---Much Money Paid Out to Watchers at the Polls

With the filing of the accounts of all the candidates whose expenses exceeded $50, the approximate cost of the campaign to the respective candidates, successful and unsuccessful has been shown. According to the accounts now on file the sum total reaches the sum of $18,023.18. Of this sum $14,383.81 was expended by the Republican candidates, and the balance, $3,639.39, was spent by the Democratic-Keystone candidates.

As each account must give in detail what the money was expended for, the public records reveals all the expenditures of the candidates. The most of the money was spent for advertising, and traveling expenses by the candidates in making their canvass. Many of the candidates hired watchers, which the law permits, and these watchers were supposed to work at the polls for the interests of the candidates they represented. From the records it is shown that many watchers were employed in Charleroi.

Several candidates expended over $1,000 in their canvass. Others varied from between $100 and $200 for the important county offices up to the maxim amount, which was $1,584.95, expended by S. M. Downer, the successful candidate for treasurer. The average was perhaps from $500 to $700, which represents about the sum necessary to make an ordinary canvass for county office for the Republican nominations.

The property taken belonged to Vincent Burzess, of Cherry Valley.

NEW MINISTER SAYS HE WILL PREACH GOSPEL

Methodist Episcopal Minister Talks Plain to Congregation

ANY KICKS, TELL HIM

Rev. Albert H. Davies, the newly appointed minister of the Methodist Episcopal church at Monessen, preached his first sermon to the members of his congregation Sunday. Rev. Davies took as his text "The Father's Pleasure" and the sermon was a masterly one, thoroughly appreciated by all who heard it. During the progress of the discourse the minister took opportunity to make a few observations anent his proposed course as pastor.

"I propose to preach the gospel according to the Bible and the doctrines of the Methodist Episcopal church" saidRev. Davies, "and if any of you have any objections to my work as pastor just come forward and state the case and I will depart as any dignified minister of the gospel should."

In addition to making the enigmatical remark that "the prospects were not alluring" the speaker gave some very practical hints concerning the duties of the pastor and congregation, and intimated that he should expect both to do their part.

RECEIVES HEAVY SHOCK

Edwin Brownlee, 14 years old, son of C. U. The chain was heavily charged with electricity, and fully 2,200 volts passed through the boy's body. The chain was used for raising and lowering the arc light, and it is supposed that it became charged by coming in contact with a wire from which the insulated covering had been worn off

Rumored Holdings Of Two Companies Will be Acquired

THIS COUNTY IS CENTER

Operations to Begin on Big Scale According to Story from County Seat

Assuming greater proportions daily the movement of the United States Steel Corporation to acquire through the H. C. Frick Coke Company, its fuel end, now bids fair to take in practically the whole of Washington county. The latest report of the supposed dealings of the big steel concern having as its source the county seat, is that in addition to the coal land purchased from the Pittsburg Coal Company and the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke Company, the Steel Corporation will acquire by purchase or merger the holdings of the Lackawanna Steel company and the Lilley Coal and Coke company. If the rumor is authentic and the United States Steel corporation really does effect a merger, Washington county will be made the center of the gigantic coal operations of the big concern.

Much of the 8,000 acres of coking coal secured from the Pittsburg Coal Company and subsidiary companies by direct purchase lies in Washington county. For this purchase a mortgage for $18,000,000 was filed at the county seat of this county a few days ago. The Steel company thus acquires a big percentage of the coking coal in this county and it does not seem unlikely that it would hesitate to secure the remainder should chance offer. And chance has apparently offered.

It is given out unauthoritively at the county seat that Controller J. H. Moffitt, one of the heavy stockholders and officials of the Lilley Coal and Coke Company, has been in conference with officials of the Steel company looking towards the transfer of its coal holdings over to the Steel company, and will cease to be a corporation in itself. It has been the plan of the Lilley Coal and Coke

UPSETS TRADITION

One of the great objections to the initiative, referendum and recall, is that it completely upsets the aims and objects of politicians, and destroys the tradition that to the victor belongs the spoils. The office holder usually makes a servant of the people who elected him, instead of being the servant himself, in accordance with old fashioned principles of Democracy on which this government is supposed to be founded. The idea of being accountable directly to the voters is wholly out of tune with the accepted political traditions, and that is where the shoe pinches. The practical politician doesn't relish the prospect of getting fired if he does not make good in office and for that reason is "agin" the recall.

The average officeholder is usually an autocrat, but with the recall in force he will find himself in the position of the captain of a British battleship who received a message in his cabin from a Scottish civilian on deck that "one of the owners of the vessel wanted to see him." The voters are the owners of the political machine that pays for the jobs, and when they give direction to their servants they will get infinitely better service. The advanages of the recall are so potent in bringing about public efficiency that the wonder is that it was not thought of and adopted in all the Sates years ago.

UNRESTRAINED COMPETITION

While the trusts have been guilty of many economic evils, and have used their power in many instances to enrich themselves at the expense of the public out of proportion to the exigencies of the occasion, unrestrained competition in any line of industries is also productive of a corresponding number of evils. One of these is to be seen in the production of bituminous coal, which, although it has many big organizations is perhaps the largest single industry outside of agriculture in which there has not been some attempt to regulate the production in proportion to the demand and consumption.

As a result of this unrestrained competition in the mining of bituminous coal, there are perhaps twice as many mines opened and in operation as are necessary to produce the coal annually consumed. More men seek occupation as miners than can get steady employment the year around, and with the enforced idleness the most of the mines experience, as the average cannot be much more than half time at the best, the whole industry is in a stage of demoralization. With the greater requirements for safety and the advance in wages that has gone steadily on, the cost of mining has been vastly increased, but the selling price has not gone up in proportion. Instead in the desperate effort to keep going many coal operators are taking contracts at less than it costs to mine the coal. It is stated on indisputable authority that at the present time many coal companies are operating at a loss in order to maintain their organization and standing to be ready to take care of business if prospects brighten.

With this demoralized condition wasteful processes of mining are being employed and the lives of the employes endangered. Yet in spite of it all new companies are being constantly organized and put in operation. The small company with no big bonded debt or fixed interest or holding charges has an advantage over the big concern, and is underbidding the latter in the market, which only adds to the demoralization. Under present conditions it would seem that some sort of regulation in the production of coal in order to conserve it if nothing else, would be most beneficial. The big mergers talked of in this valley cannot make conditions worse, and the chances are that they would improve things if they materalize. If matters continue the coal will go the way of the timber and the country will not be materially benefitted.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

Rev. L. F. Athey, a missionery to New Mexico for the Methodist Episcopal church tells a story of the hardships to be met in that territory. Rev. Athey, who is here as the guest of his uncle, Henry Sheets, will lecture at the Methodist church tonight. He says the story was told him.

"A minister in taking a trip through the country wished to stop all night at a certain house. It was a little dug-out home, containing one room. In the one room was a bed. The minister couldn't see how he was going to be accommodated, but the good host and his wife would not suffer him to go on. There were three children in the family.

"When late in the evening the children began to get sleepy, they were placed crossways in the bed. Within a few minutes they were sound asleep. Then the host carefully picked them up and stood them side by side in a corner.

"'Now your bed's ready,' stated the host, and he retired with his wife from the room.

"The minister got in bed, then became possessed of curiosity as to what the man and his wife would do. There was no barn or anything of the kind and he couldn't imagine where they were going to sleep. So to find out he pretended to be asleep, snoring outrageously. By and by he heard the door open, and saw the host glance in. He heard the whisper, 'He's asleep'. Then the man and his wife came in.

"Wonder possessed the minister what would happen next, but he wasn't left long in doubt. Gently but firmly, with the man at his head and his wife at the heels, he was picked up, carried over and placed in a corner also. Then the good host and his wife went to bed."

"How many young fellows when they start out to work consider that until they are 21 years old their earnings belong to their parents?" remarked a prominent manufacturer of the valley the other day while talking over the industrial situation. "Most parents not only permit their sons to keep and spend all they make when they go to work, but they board them free of charge and often help them out in their clothes and other expenses, besides. This is not the proper thing to do, and many a boy is spoiled in that manner by having money to spend out of proportions to his ability to earn after he attains his majority and starts out to shift for himself.

"I started out to work when I was 15, and up to the time I was 21 I turned all my wages in to my parents, outside of an allowance for spending money and clothes. From the time I went to work until I attained my majority, I turned in over $3,000 to my father, and on my 21st birthday I had $265 in cash that I had saved out of my allowance. When I was of age my father said:

"'Now you are your own boss. All that you are expected to do at home is to pay pour board if you stay.'"

"From that time on I was treated like a man, and nothing was ever said or done to indicate that I had any further obligations with the family. That, in my opinion is the correct course for every family to pursue. If it were done there would be fewer people dependent on their children for support in their old age, and more young fellows would have a greater appreciation of the value of money and thrift."

New Heat Unit.

The use of gas for heating as well as lighting has made obsolete the old unit the candle power, owing to the fact that this unit rates merely the brightness of the flame, not the heating power.

Deville and more recent experimenters discovered a remarkable proportion between the light and heat of a mantle, and using this, makers are rating burners according to the units of heat given to them per unit of time in standard calorics. Gas of 5,200 calorics efficiency a cubic meter has been recommended as the standard.

The latest designs of burners for heat and lighting require that the gas have a fairly constant consumption, since the maximum efficiency of the burner is attained only when the relative quantities of air and gas are closely regulated. Water gas may be added to prevent excessive variation in calorific value.—America.

Scientists should remember that a grasshopper can jump 200 times its own length. This fact should be remembered by the collegian who thinks he is going to be needed in the world because he has broken the jumping record.—Chicago Record-Herald.

What He Saved.

Pathetic as well as amusing is the valedictory of a western editor: "With grateful acknowledgment to my friends and benediction upon the profession, I take my hat—the savings of 17 years in the newspaper field—and retire."

PULLS OFF NEW KIND OF STUNT

Belle Vernon Woman Makes a Picturesque Appearance As She Flees

CAUSE OF THE TROUBLE

A maiden by the name of Fannie Carr, is not wanted in Belle Vernon any more—except by a certain few. Fannie is in a class all by her lonesome, and for pulling off picturesque stunts, she can't be beat. Fannie came from Pittsburg, full of wisdom of the big, wicked world. She settled in Seldom Seen, a Belle Vernon suburb, and entertained her male frinds somwhat lavishly. But alas! The police found it out. They went to visit her and found her at home. Also they found four male companions. The police got hefty and gathered in the four male companions. Thereupon Fannie pulled off her stunt. Wearing a pair of unmentionables and a scared look she hopped through a handy window and at once became a would-be nymph. The four men were taken to the lockup and one cop was left on the job to look for Fannie. He found her entering the place from whence she came, presumably to recover her spectacles, which in her unusually haste to depart, she had forgotten. But the cop possessed a grudge against her and after insisting that she get a little more bodily covering took her to the lockup. Fannie spent 24 hours there, securing $5 which she left on deposit. Then with a promise not to return she left the town.

STEEL CORPORATION MAY HEAD MERGER

"At this very time," the county seat rumor goes, "The Lackawanna Steel company is negotiating with certain holders of coal lands in the Pigeon Creek valley lying next to and adjoining the vast coal holdings of the independent steel company." The original holdings of James W. Ellsworth, which were taken over by the Lackawanna Steel company, comprised about 16,000 acres, centering around the present town of Ellsworth. It is stated the Lackawanna Steel concern is making overtures to coal holders in Somerset and West Pike Run townships. One of the coal holders was in Charleroi a day or so ago and confirmed the rumor that agents of the Lackawanna Steel company are negotiating for this adjacent coal. The supposed plan is that when the coal is secured the whole acerage will be tunred into the new merger with the big steel company.

As first stated, when the Mail unearthed the plan of the United States Seel corporaion through the H. C. Frick Coal and Coke company to secure coal territory and make openings in this part of the valley, the gigantic developments proposed would mean practically a rearrangement of the territory. New railroads would be built, new towns constructed and thousands of men would be given work. The advices from the county seat would seem to confirm the first statements.

Doing Away With Knot Holes.

To save the loss of box lumber because of knot holes a man in California has invented a machine to saw the holes out to a uniform size and cut plugs to be fitted into the holes.

Children and Firearms Again.

Little Anna Quinn, fourteen years old, was instantly killed the other day at Lowell, Mass., by the explosion of a revolver held by her playmate, Thelma Borg, aged twelve years. The two children, with Sonia Borg, a sister of Thelma, and another play-fellow, were playing about the Borg home when they discovered the revolver. After all had looked at it, Anna playfully held it against the heart of Thelma Borg. "I'm going to kill you," she said, smilingly. The trigger was pulled, but the revolver failed to explode. Once more the weapon was examined by the children and then Thelma Borg took it and placed it close to the Quinn child's head. Playfully she exclaimed: "You killed me; now I'm going to kill you." She fired. This time the weapon exploded.

Moth Balls in the Orient.

"You will find strange names for ordinary things in the Far East," said an American who has recently been in those parts.

"When I struck Singapore I had a lot of heavy clothes with me which had been necessary on a journey across Siberia. I decided to put them away in a trunk, but thought I would get some moth balls from a drug store.

"'Moth balls?' repeated the chemist with a stare.

"'Why, yes; those things that you put in clothes to keep moths out,' I explained.

"'Oh,' he said, intelligence showing in his eyes, 'you mean aphthalated marbles.'"

Remains of Old-Time Fortress.

Archaeological researches made at a spot some 20 miles from Kars, Russia, have brought to light a completely intact stone fortress of prehistoric date. The masonry of the primitively designed forts and bastions is somewhat roughly, but extremely well laid. Among the many and various objects found are quite a number of well-preserved figures of heathen gods, mostly in animal forms and in a kind of hard-baked potter's clay.

Irreverent Youth.

On a recent publication day of a newspaper printed out west, a boy, some ten or twelve years of age, came into the office, and, with a peculiar grin on his face, inquired, "if that paper," pointing to the copy, "has an account of the man that has been murdered in Delevan?" He was answered in the affirmative, when depositing five cents upon the table, he remarked, with an air of self-importance, "Well—that's my dad, and I want to read about him."—Boston Herald.

His Day of Fate.

An odd story of a dream of ill-omen comes from Sunderland, Durham, England. A young shipyard laborer dreamed that he would be killed, and therefore he did not go to work in the morning. In the afternoon he went to bathe in the River Wear, and getting into deep water was drowned before help could reach him. The efforts of his companions to save him were unavailing, through the swiftness of the current.

Historic Retributions.

Haman devised a gallows 50 cubits high for Mordecai in the days of King Ahasuerus. But on this towering gibbet Haman himself was hanged. The bishop of Verdun contrived an iron cage, too small to allow a person confined within it either to stand upright or to lie at full length, for the torture of heretics. The bishop of Verdun himself was the first victim to suffer such a cage.

No Vipers in New World.

Africa is the home of the typical vipers. No species of the true viper inhabits the new world, though several kinds of snakes are commonly so called. The viperine snakes of this hemisphere belong to a sub-family of the vipers, known technically as the Crotalinæ. Under this head come the rattlesnake, copperhead, water moccasin, bushmaster and the fer-de-lance.

Where Glass Eyes Are Made.

Glass eyes are made principally in Lauscha, a German town 20 miles from Coburg. The trade is flourishing, with constant improvements of value, though in minor details. As in other occupations in Europe, the artisans hand down their acquired knowledge and skill to younger members of the same family.

Authors Not Posted.

Wills have often proved a stumbling block to the novelist. One flagrant case may be mentioned. A popular writer causes an old aristocrat to have his "last will and testament" witnessed by his butler and his housekeeper, yet he makes them both benefit under it. By so doing he rendered the will invalid. But the author did not know it.

Will Raise Opossums.

One farm exclusively for opossums has been started in Gippsland, Victoria which comprises two thousand acres of eucalyptus bush land. Another farm comprising five hundred acres has been started in southern Tasmania and another of 150 acres in New South Wales.

Silly Saying Still Lives.

The saying that fish is the best brain food comes of an old long tongue windbag years ago saying: "Thought is impossible without phosphorus." So a Swiss chemist, knowing that fish contained phosphorus, put two and two together and brought forth a saying that will never die.

Not Much Lost.

Two lunatics conversed in the asylum yard. One had megalomania. Said he: "Had they not locked me up here, I should have been a second Napoleon!" Thoughtfully, the other contemplated a peagreen devil on the asylum wall, then remarked: "The second Napoleon wasn't much shucks."

Had a Protest Coming.

"Ethel," said Mr. Brown, "I want you to give that young man of yours a little message from me." "Yes, father," said Ethel, blushing. "Tell him that your mother and father don't object to big gas bills, but they object to his carrying the morning paper away with him when he leaves."—Tit-Bits.

Didn't Land as He Expected.

"I did not expect to come down this way," was the only remark made by Joseph Kinward, of Tarrytown, New York, after falling from a height of 150 feet, striking a guard wire, turning a complete somersault and landing on his feet.

The Main Attraction.

Popular approval wouldn't be so much sought after if it didn't carry a salary.—Atchison Globe.

Germs Spread in Skin

Eczema, Psoriasis and other skin troubles are caused by myriads of germs at work in the skin. Unless these germs are promptly destroyed they rapidly multiply, gnawing their way deep into the sensitive tissue. This is what causes that awful itch, and what seemed a mere rash may grow worse and develop into a loathsome and torturing skin disease with its years of misery.

Don't take any chances! Destroy the germs at the beginning of the trouble with that soothing and cleansing wash, the D. D. D. Prescription for Eczema. A 25c bottle will prove it to you.

We have had experience with many remedies for skin trouble but have never seen such remarkable cures as those from D. D. D. Prescription. Instant relief from the very first application.

We are so confident that D. D. D. will reach your case that it will cost you nothing if the very first full size bottle fails to make good every claim.

If you have skin trouble of any kind, we certainly advise you to drop in and investigate the merits of D. D. D. anyway. We know that D. D. D. will help you.

Home Treatment for Tuberculosis

Consumptive patients need no longer dread either the fate that formerly overtook all sufferers from lung trouble, or costly and often terribly inconvenient journeys far from home to other climates or to some expensive sanatorium. Hundreds are now staying quietly at home curing themselves at no expense beyond the cost of a few bottles of medicine. Here is one who speaks from experience: 220 S. 4th St., Colwyn (Darby), Pa.

"Gentlemen: For four years I was troubled with cough, which gradually became worse; I had night sweats and pains in my chest. I was losing my appetite and had become so thin and weak I could not attend to my household duties. A physician pronounced my case Consumption. Not being satisfied, I was examined by the physicians of the Polyclinic Hospital; they also pronounced the disease Consumption, which was proven later by an examination of sputum, as Tuberculosis Bacilli was found. I was ordered to a Consumptive Hospital. My nephew would not allow me to go until I had tried Eckman's Alterative. Before I had taken the medicine three weeks I had marked relief, night sweats ceased; pain in the breast relieved; cough became loose and easy; fever left me and I commenced getting well. My health became normal. I am in excellent health now and have been completely cured for ten years. I strongly recommend it."

(Signed) (MRS.) MARY WASSON.

Eckman's Alterative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever; Throat and Lung Troubles, and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. DOCTORS FAILED TO HELP HER

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Pound, Wis.—"I am glad to announce that I have been cured of dyspepsia and female troubles by your medicine. I had been troubled with both for fourteen years and consulted different doctors, but failed to get any relief. After using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier I can say I am a well woman. I can't find words to express my thanks for the good your medicine has done me. You may publish this if you wish." —Mrs. HERMAN SIETH, Pound, Wis.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills, and suffering women owe it to themselves to at least give this medicine a trial. Proof is abundant that it has cured thousands of others, and why should it not cure you?

If you want special advice write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for it. It is free and always helpful.

Both Delighted.

Two elderly gentlemen, both decently clothed in sober black, were sitting side by side in a Euclid avenue car, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer. Each was reading a morning paper. Suddenly one of the men uttered an exclamation of pleasure and the other peered at him over his glasses.

"I see here," explained the first with a beaming face, "that Mr. B., who died last week, has left his entire fortune to various charitable enterprises. This will be a surprise to his many relatives. It is to me a glad surprise in my case, for I am the pastor of a church to which he has left $10,000."

The second man looked at the article and his face, too, became wreathed in smiles. "God bless him!" he exclaimed heartily. "All to charitable institutions in spite of his relatives! Ah, sir, I like to see money left like that. I do, indeed!"

"Are you also a clergyman?"

"No, sir, I am a lawyer."

Same Old Human Nature.

From the fresco paintings of women in Cretan palaces of the period about 2000 B. C it is learned that the women of that time pinched in their waists, had flounced or accordion plaited skirts, wore an elaborate coiffure on their heads, shoes with high heels and hats which might have come from a Parisian hat shop, while one woman might be described as wearing a jupe culotte.

Only Ordinary.

An appalling happening occurred in Turkey a few days ago, at a wedding celebration, the bride, bridegroom and twenty-eight of the guests being blown to pieces. The bride and bridegroom and guests all perished, some of them being terribly mutilated.

Queer Physical Facts.

Matters in geography and physics appear to get a little mixed at times. The mouth of the Mississippi is several miles farther from the center of the earth than its source, so that it actually runs uphill. Also the eastern end of the Panama canal is further west than the western end. It sounds like a "bull," to be sure, but for all that it is a fact.

Queer Face Facts.

"Why do you photographers always photograph the left side of the face by preference?"

"Because it's the best looking," was the prompt reply "The left side of the face is always the more regular, and it always shows least the marks of time.

"But," he continued, "if you want to bring out the real character of a face photograph the right side. There nature sets her print. There the lines are bold and unmistakable There every defect, no less than every excellence, is stamped deep

"The left side, where everything is softened down, for beauty The right side, where everything is well rubbed in, for character Those are the portrait artist's two chief rules."

Electric Bells Protect Orchards.

So familiar have electric bells become to most of us that even their sound at unexpected times or in unusual places rarely startles us. Not so with birds, to which the sudden ringing of a bell on a tree or a post means something far more uncanny than any scarecrow flapping in the wind. Knowing this, the head master of an Austrian school has patented an electric scarecrow system in which a clock makes the connections at irregular intervals to electric bells scattered over the orchard.

Ready With Suggestion.

A superintendent of a city Sunday school endeavored to give the summer meetings added attractiveness. Upon a certain warm Sunday lemonade was served. At the close of the service the superintendent announced that slips of paper would be passed round and the pupils allowed to make suggestions as to methods of making the meetings still more attractive One youngster wrote: "Put more sugar in the lemonade."

Didn't Concern Him.

John Wesley had a reputation for cheerfulnes. In his journal he writes: "I preached in Halifax to a civil, senseless congregation. Three or four gentlemen put me in mind of the honest man at London who was so gay and unconcerned while Doctor Sherlock was preaching concerning the Day of Judgment. One asked 'Do you not hear what the doctor says?' He answered, 'Yes, but I am not of his parish!'"

Valuable By-Products.

Albumen is made from blood secured at the packing houses and used for setting the colors of printed fabrics. Ashes from the hickory and cobs used in smoking meats are used for fertilizer. Certain hard bone is ground up and used for case hardening steel. In this process the steel implement is heated while immersed in the powdered bone. Glue is made from the hoofs and sinews of animals.

Her View of It.

The childish daughter of the house had been sent into the parlor to entertain the unexpected guest. The woman inquired, by way of making conversation, where was the child's brother. "He's gone to the school of ministers to be pastorized," she was respectfully informed.

A Hare's Daily Sea Bath.

A hare which had made a daily practice of swimming in the sea at Cley, to the delight of visitors, has been captured by some local fishermen in a boat. They chased the animal seaward for 300 yards before they came up with it. The hare was then exhausted and was easily captured.—London Daily Mail.

OFFENDERS ADMIT GUILT

ing a coat and hat belonging to Peter Mullen, a conductor on the Panhandle road, was fined $1 and costs, and sent three months to jail. The coat and hat were hung up in a coach of the train, and were taken near Burgettstown, while Fenny was a passenger on the train.

Nick Patch, of Hackett, admitted selling liquor without license, to minors and on Sunday. He was given a total sentence of $600 and costs and four months and ten days in jail.

Max Sewred, a foreigner, charged with passing a danger sign in the mines at Cherry Valley, was fined $1 and costs. Sewred does not appear to be very bright, and was hardly responsible for what he did. He has a wife and three children in the old country.

Robush Sacovish, charged with passing a danger board in the mines at Marianna, was fined $25 and costs.

Harry Williams, better known as "Rabbitt" Williams, was again before the court. Rabbit had been on one of his usual sprees and had taken from Mrs. Catherine Engle, of Washington, a gold watch and chain. Rabbit's great fault is his fondness for drink. He has spent the greater part of his time in jail, and when incarcerated is employed as jail cook. He was fined $1 and costs and sent to jail for three months and will be employed at his old trade.

William Farthing, of Monongahela, charged with desertion and non-support, was before the court on an attachment. He was formerly paroled upon his agreement to return to work at the Liggett Spring & Axle works, near Monongahela, where he had been employed, and to support his wife. He violated his parole, did not return to work, did not support his wife, and had gone to Pittsburg, where he was arrested. He was directed to pay so much towards the support of his wife, pay the costs and to give bond in the sum of $500 for the faithful compliance with the order.

Andy Kamkis and John Wicchuff, miners, charged with violating the mining laws by traveling a motor road without permission at Ellsworth entered pleas of guilty. Each were fined $25 and costs.

THE DOCTOR'S QUESTION

Much Sickness Due to Bowel Disorders

A doctor's first question when consulted by a patient is, "Are your bowells regular?" He knows that 98 per cent of illness is attended with inactive bowels and torpid liver, and that this condition must be removed gently and thoroughly before health can be restored.

Rexall Orderlies are a positive, pleasant, and safe remedy for constipation and bowel disorders in general. We are so certain of their great curative value that we promise to return the puchaser's money in every case when they fail to produce entire satisfaction.

Rexall Orderlies are eaten like candy, they act quietly, and aid in producing a soothing, strengthening healing influence on the entire intestinal tract. They do not purge, gripe cause nausea, flatulence, excessive looseness, diarrhoea, or other annoying effects. They are especially good for children, weak persons, or old folks. Three sizes, 10c, 25c, and 50c. Sold only at our store—The Rexall Store, Carroll's Drug Store, 623 Fallawfield Ave., Charleroi, Pa.

Goat's Milk Highly Valued.

There are scores of foreign writers and medical experts who advocate the use of goat's milk for infants and invalids. In fact there are sanitariums in France and Switzerland that give goat's milk a prominent place in their systems of care. The milk is specially recommended for infants because of its similarity in composition to mother's milk.

We Want to See You

We'll Treat You Rightly

We know you don't like to be pulled and hauled all over the store, passed through the gauntlet of clerks and finally turned over to the proprietor simply because you don't find what you want, and you don't want some little whippersnapper of a clerk to insist upon your taking what you don't want. You have, doubtlessly been through this ordeal, and vowed that you would never go into that store again. You're right--you don't have to.

Shoes should stand on their merits and a first-class shoe house always has a large enough assortment for a customer to be suited without having something forced on him which he forever dislikes. Come our way. If we cannot possibly suit you we will treat you kindly just the same. One thing certain —if you can't find anything to suit you in our store, you can't find it in Charleroi. And, furthermore, if you don't find that our prices are right, don't spend a cent with us. Fair proposition hey?

UPSETS TRADITION

One of the great objections to the initiative, referendum and recall, is that it completely upsets the aims and objects of politicians, and destroys the tradition that to the victor belongs the spoils. The office holder usually makes a servant of the people who elected him, instead of being the servant himself, in accordance with old fashioned principles of Democracy on which this government is supposed to be founded. The idea of being accountable directly to the voters is wholly out of tune with the accepted political traditions, and that is where the shoe pinches. The practical politician doesn't relish the prospect of getting fired if he does not make good in office and for that reason is "agin" the recall.

The average officeholder is usually an autocrat, but with the recall in force he will find himself in the position of the captain of a British battleship who received a message in his cabin from a Scottish civilian on deck that "one of the owners of the vessel wanted to see him." The voters are the owners of the political machine that pays for the jobs, and when they give direction to their servants they will get infinitely better service. The advanages of the recall are so potent in bringing about public efficiency that the wonder is that it was not thought of and adopted in all the Sates years ago.

UNRESTRAINED COMPETITION

While the trusts have been guilty of many economic evils, and have used their power in many instances to enrich themselves at the expense of the public out of proportion to the exigencies of the occasion, unrestrained competition in any line of industries is also productive of a corresponding number of evils. One of these is to be seen in the production of bituminous coal, which, although it has many big organizations is perhaps the largest single industry outside of agriculture in which there has not been some attempt to regulate the production in proportion to the demand and consumption.

As a result of this unrestrained competition in the mining of bituminous coal, there are perhaps twice as many mines opened and in operation as are necessary to produce the coal annually consumed. More men seek employment as miners than can get steady employment the year around, and with the enforced idleness the most of the mines experience, as the average cannot be much more than half time at the best, the whole industry is in a stage of demoralization. With the greater requirements for safety and the advance in wages that has gone steadily on, the cost of mining has been vastly increased, but the selling price has not gone up in proportion. Instead in the desperate effort to keep going many coal operators are taking contracts at less than it costs to mine the coal. It is stated on indisputable authority that at the present time many coal companies are operating at a loss in order to maintain their organization and standing to be ready to take care of business if prospects brighten.

With this demoralized condition wasteful processes of mining are being employed and the lives of the employes endangered. Yet in spite of it all new companies are being constantly organized and put in operation. The small company with no big bonded debt or fixed interest or holding charges has an advantage over the big concern, and is underbidding the latter in the market, which only adds to the demoralization. Under present conditions it would seem that some sort of regulation in the production of coal in order to conserve it if nothing else, would be most beneficial. The big mergers talked of in this valley cannot make conditions worse, and the chances are that they would improve things if they materalize. If matters continue the coal will go the way of the timber and the country will not be materially benefitted.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

Rev. L. F. Athey, a missionery to New Mexico for the Methodist Episcopal church tells a story of the hardships to be met in that territory. Rev. Athey, who is here as the guest of his uncle, Henry Sheets, will lecture at the Methodist church tonight. He says the story was told him.

"A minister in taking a trip through the country wished to stop all night at a certain house. It was a little dug-out home, containing one room. In the one room was a bed. The minister couldn't see how he was going to be accommodated, but the good host and his wife would not suffer him to go on. There were three children in the family.

"When late in the evening the children began to get sleepy, they were placed crossways in the bed. Within a few minutes they were sound asleep. Then the host carefully picked them up and stood them side by side in a corner.

"'Now your bed's ready,' stated the host, and he retired with his wife from the room.

"The minister got in bed, then became possessed of curiosity as to what the man and his wife would do. There was no barn or anything of the kind and he couldn't imagine where they were going to sleep. So to find out he pretended to be asleep, snoring outrageously. By and by he heard the door open, and saw the host glance in. He heard the whisper, 'He's asleep'. Then the man and his wife came in.

"Wonder possessed the minister what would happen next, but he wasn't left long in doubt. Gently but firmly, with the man at his head and his wife at the heels, he was picked up, carried over and placed in a corner also. Then the good host and his wife went to bed."

"How many young fellows when they start out to work consider that until they are 21 years old their earnings belong to their parents?" remarked a prominent manufacturer of the valley the other day while talking over the industrial situation. "Most parents not only permit their sons to keep and spend all they make when they go to work, but they board them free of charge and often help them out in their clothes and other expenses, besides. This is not the proper thing to do, and many a boy is spoiled in that manner by having money to spend out of proportions to his ability to earn after he attains his majority and starts out to shift for himself.

"I started out to work when I was 15, and up to the time I was 21 I turned all my wages in to my parents, outside of an allowance for spending money and clothes. From the time I went to work until I attained my majority, I turned in over $3,000 to my father, and on my 21st birthday I had $265 in cash that I had saved out of my allowance. When I was of age my father said:

"'Now you are your own boss. All that you are expected to do at home is to pay pour board if you stay.'"

"From that time on I was treated like a man, and nothing was ever said or done to indicate that I had any further obligations with the family. That, in my opinion is the correct course for every family to pursue. If it were done there would be fewer people dependent on their children for support in their old age, and more young fellows would have a greater appreciation of the value of money and thrift."

New Heat Unit.

The use of gas for heating as well as lighting has made obsolete the old unit the candle power, owing to the fact that this unit rates merely the brightness of the flame, not the heating power.

Deville and more recent experimenters discovered a remarkable proportion between the light and heat of a mantle, and using this, makers are rating burners according to the units of heat given to them per unit of time in standard calorics. Gas of 5,200 calorics efficiency a cubic meter has been recommended as the standard.

The latest designs of burners for heat and lighting require that the gas have a fairly constant consumption, since the maximum efficiency of the burner is attained only when the relative quantities of air and gas are closely regulated. Water gas may be added to prevent excessive variation in calorific value.—America.

PULLS OFF NEW KIND OF STUNT

Belle Vernon Woman Makes a Picturesque Appearance As She Flees

CAUSE OF THE TROUBLE

A maiden by the name of Fannie Carr, is not wanted in Belle Vernon any more—except by a certain few. Fannie is in a class all by her lonesome, and for pulling off picturesque stunts, she can't be beat. Fannie came from Pittsburg, full of wisdom of the big, wicked world. She settled in Seldom Seen, a Belle Vernon suburb, and entertained her male frinds somwhat lavishly. But alas! The police found it out. They went to visit her and found her at home. Also they found four male companions. The police got hefty and gathered in the four male companions. Thereupon Fannie pulled off her stunt. Wearing a pair of unmentionables and a scared look she hopped through a handy window and at once became a would-be nymph. The four men were taken to the lockup and one cop was left on the job to look for Fannie. He found her entering the place from whence she came, presumably to recover her spectacles, which in her unusually haste to depart, she had forgotten. But the cop possessed a grudge against her and after insisting that she get a little more bodily covering took her to the lockup. Fannie spent 24 hours there, securing $5 which she left on deposit. Then with a promise not to return she left the town.

"At this very time," the county seat rumor goes, "The Lackawanna Steel company is negotiating with certain holders of coal lands in the Pigeon Creek valley lying next to and adjoining the vast coal holdings of the independent steel company." The original holdings of James W. Ellsworth, which were taken over by the Lackawanna Steel company, comprised about 16,000 acres, centering around the present town of Ellsworth. It is stated the Lackawanna Steel concern is making overtures to coal-holders in Somerset and West Pike Run townships. One of the coal holders was in Charleroi a day or so ago and confirmed the rumor that agents of the Lackawanna Steel company are negotiating for this adjacent coal. The supposed plan is that when the coal is secured the whole acreage will be tunred into the new merger with the big steel company.

As first stated, when the Mail unearthed the plan of the United States Seel corporaion through the H. C. Frick Coal and Coke company to secure coal territory and make openings in this part of the valley, the gigantic developments proposed would mean practically a rearrangement of the territory. New railroads would be built, new towns constructed and thousands of men would be given work. The advices from the county seat would seem to confirm the first statements.

Doing Away With Knot Holes.

To save the loss of box lumber because of knot holes a man in California has invented a machine to saw the holes out to a uniform size and cut plugs to be fitted into the holes.

Children and Firearms Again.

Little Anna Quinn, fourteen years old, was instantly killed the other day at Lowell, Mass., by the explosion of a revolver held by her playmate, Thelma Borg, aged twelve years. The two children, with Sonia Borg, a sister of Thelma, and another play-fellow, were playing about the Borg home when they discovered the revolver. After all had looked at it, Anna playfully held it against the heart of Thelma Borg. "I'm going to kill you," she said, smilingly. The trigger was pulled, but the revolver failed to explode. Once more the weapon was examined by the children and then Thelma Borg took it and placed it close to the Quinn child's head. Playfully she exclaimed: "You killed me; now I'm going to kill you." She fired. This time the weapon exploded.

Moth Balls in the Orient.

"You will find strange names for ordinary things in the Far East," said an American who has recently been in those parts.

"When I struck Singapore I had a lot of heavy clothes with me which had been necessary on a journey across Siberia. I decided to put them away in a trunk, but thought I would get some moth balls from a drug store.

"'Moth balls?' repeated the chemist with a stare.

"'Why, yes; those things that you put in clothes to keep moths out,' I explained.

"'Oh,' he said, intelligence showing in his eyes, 'you mean aphthalated marbles.'"

Remains of Old-Time Fortress.

Archaeological researches made at a spot some 20 miles from Kars, Russia, have brought to light a completely intact stone fortress of prehistoric date. The masonry of the primitively designed forts and bastions is somewhat roughly, but extremely well laid. Among the many and various objects found are quite a number of well-preserved figures of heathen gods, mostly in animal forms and in a kind of hard-baked potter's clay.

Irreverent Youth.

On a recent publication day of a newspaper printed out west, a boy, some ten or twelve years of age, came into the office, and, with a peculiar grin on his face, inquired, "if that paper," pointing to the copy, "has an account of the man that has been murdered in Delevan?" He was answered in the affirmative, when depositing five cents upon the table, he remarked, with an air of self-importance, "Well—that's my dad, and I want to read about him."—Boston Herald.

His Day of Fate.

An odd story of a dream of ill-omen comes from Sunderland, Durham, England. A young shipyard laborer dreamed that he would be killed, and therefore he did not go to work in the morning. In the afternoon he went to bathe in the River Wear, and getting into deep water was drowned before help could reach him. The efforts of his companions to save him were unavailing, through the swiftness of the current.

Historic Retributions.

Haman devised a gallows 50 cubits high for Mordecai in the days of King Ahasuerus. But on this towering gibbet Haman himself was hanged. The bishop of Verdun contrived an iron cage, too small to allow a person confined within it either to stand upright or to lie at full length, for the torture of heretics. The bishop of Verdun himself was the first victim to suffer such a cage.

No Vipers In New World.

Africa is the home of the typical vipers. No species of the true viper inhabits the new world, though several kinds of snakes are commonly so called. The viperine snakes of this hemisphere belong to a sub-family of the vipers, known technically as the Crotalinæ. Under this head come the ratilesnake, copperhead, water moccasin, bushmaster and the fer-de-lance.

Where Glass Eyes Are Made.

Glass eyes are made principally in Lauscha, a German town 20 miles from Coburg. The trade is flourishing, with constant improvements of value, though in minor details. As in many occupations in Europe, the artisans hand down their acquired knowledge and skill to younger members of the same family.

Wills have often proved a stumbling block to the novelist. One flagrant case may be mentioned. A popular writer causes an old aristocrat to have his "last will and testament" witnessed by his butler and his housekeeper, yet he makes them both benefit under it. By so doing he rendered the will invalid. But the author did not know it.

Will Raise Opossums.

One farm exclusively for opossums has been started in Gippsland, Victoria, which comprises two thousand acres of eucalyptus bush land. Another farm comprising five hundred acres has been started in southern Tasmania and another of 150 acres in New South Wales.

Silly Saying Still Lives.

The saying that fish is the best brain food comes of an old long tongue windbag years ago saying: "Thought is impossible without phosphorus." So a Swiss chemist, knowing that fish contained phosphorus, put two and two together and brought forth a saying that will never die.

Not Much Lost.

Two lunatics conversed in the asylum yard. One had megalomania. Said he: "Had they not locked me up here, I should have been a second Napoleon!" Thoughtfully, the other contemplated a peagreen devil on the asylum wall, then remarked: "The second Napoleon wasn't much shucks."

Had a Protest Coming.

"Ethel," said Mr. Brown, "I want you to give that young man of yours a little message from me." "Yes, father," said Ethel, blushing. "Tell him that your mother and father don't object to big gas bills, but they object to his carrying the morning paper away with him when he leaves."—Tit-Bits.

Didn't Land as He Expected.

"I did not expect to come down this way," was the only remark made by Joseph Kinward, of Tarrytown, New York, after falling from a height of 150 feet, striking a guard wire, turning a complete somersault and landing on his feet.

The Main Attraction.

Popular approval wouldn't be so much sought after if it didn't carry a salary.—Atchison Globe.

Germs Spread in Skin

Eczema, Psoriasis and other skin troubles are caused by myriads of germs at work in the skin. Unless these germs are promptly destroyed they rapidly multiply, gnawing their way deep into the sensitive tissue. This is what causes that awful itch, and what seemed a mere rash may grow worse and develop into a loathsome and torturing skin disease with its years of misery.

Don't take any chances! Destroy the germs at the beginning of the trouble with that soothing and cleansing wash, the D. D. D. Prescription for Eczema.

A 25c bottle will prove it to you.

We have had experience with many remedies for skin trouble but have never seen such remarkable cures as those from D. D. D. Prescription. Instant relief from the very first application.

We are so confident that D. D. D. will reach your case that it will cost you nothing if the very first full size bottle fails to make good every claim.

If you have skin trouble of any kind, we certainly advise you to drop in and investigate the merits of D. D. D. anyway. We know that D. D. D. will help you.

Home Treatment for Tuberculosis

Consumptive patients need no longer dread either the fate that formerly overtook all sufferers from lung trouble, or costly and often terribly inconvenient journeys far from home to other climates or to some expensive sanatorium. Hundreds are now staying quietly at home curing themselves at no expense beyond the cost of a few bottles of medicine. Here is one who speaks from experience: 220 S. 4th St., Colwyn (Darby), Pa.

"Gentlemen: For four years I was troubled with cough, which gradually became worse; I had night sweats and pains in my chest. I was losing my appetite and had become so thin and weak I could not attend to my household duties. A physician pronounced my case Consumption. Not being satisfied, I was examined by the physicians of the Polyclinic Hospital; they also pronounced the disease Consumption, which was proven later by an examination of sputum, as Tuberculosis Bacilli was found. I was ordered to a Consumptive Hospital. My nephew would not allow me to go until I had tried Eckman's Alterative. Before I had taken the medicine three weeks I had marked relief, night sweats ceased; pain in the breast relieved; cough became loose and easy; fever left me and I commenced getting well. My health became normal. I am in excellent health now and have been completely cured for ten years. I strongly recommend it."

(Signed) (MRS.) MARY WASSON.

Eckman's Alterative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Troubles, and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. Ask for booklet of cured cases and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for more evidence. For sale by all leading druggists and

DOCTORS FAILED TO HELP HER

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Pound, Wis.—"I am glad to announce that I have been cured of dyspepsia and female troubles by your medicine. I had been troubled with both for fourteen years and consulted different doctors, but failed to get any relief. After using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier I can say I am a well woman. I can't find words to express my thanks for the good your medicine has done me. You may publish this if you wish."—Mrs. HERMAN SIETH, Pound, Wis.

The success of Lydia E Pinkham's [illegible] made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills, and suffering women owe it to themselves to at least give this medicine a trial. Proof is abundant that it has cured thousands of others, and why should it not cure you?

If you want special advice write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for it. It is free and always helpful.

Both Delighted.

Two elderly gentlemen, both decently clothed in sober black, were sitting side by side in a Euclid avenue car, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer. Each was reading a morning paper Suddenly one of the men uttered an exclamation of pleasure and the other peered at him over his glasses.

"I see here," explained the first with a beaming face, "that Mr. B, who died last week, has left his entire fortune to various charitable enterprises. This will be a surprise to his many relatives. It is to me a glad surprise in my case, for I am the pastor of a church to which he has left $10,000."

The second man looked at the article and his face, too became wreathed in smiles. "God bless him!" he exclaimed heartily "All to charitable institutions in spite of his relatives! Ah, sir, I like to see money left like that I do, indeed!"

"Are you also a clergyman?"

"No, sir, I am a lawyer."

Same Old Human Nature.

From the fresco paintings of women in Cretan palaces of the period about 2000 B. C it is learned that the women of that time pinched in their waists, had flounced or accordion plaited skirts, wore an elaborate coiffure on their heads, shoes with high heels and hats which might have come from a Parisian hat shop, while one woman might be described as wearing a jupe culotte

Tragical Wedding Party.

An appalling happening occurred in Turkey a few days ago, at a wedding celebration, the bride, bridegroom and twenty-eight of the guests being blown to pieces. A powder merchant named Yahia was celebrating his wedding in the village of Sinan, in the Yemen, when a terrific explosion occurred in one of the rooms where powder was stored. The bride and bridegroom and guests all perished, some of them being terribly mutilated

Queer Physical Facts.

Matters in geography and physics appear to get a little mixed at times. The mouth of the Mississippi is several miles farther from the center of the earth than its source, so that it actually runs uphill Also the eastern end of the Panama canal is further west than the western end It sounds like a "bull," to be sure, but for all that it is a fact.

Queer Face Facts.

"Why do you photographers always photograph the left side of the face by preference?"

"Because it's the best looking," was the prompt reply "The left side of the face is always the more regular, and it always shows least the marks of time.

"But," he continued, "if you want to bring out the real character of a face photograph the right side There nature sets her print. There the lines are bold and unmistakable There every defect, no less than every excellence, is stamped deep

"The left side, where everything is softened down, for beauty The right side, where everything is well rubbed in, for character Those are the portrait artist's two chief rules"

Electric Bells Protect Orchards.

So familiar have electric bells become to most of us that even their sound at unexpected times or in unusual places rarely startles us. Not so with birds, to which the sudden ringing of a bell on a tree or a post means something far more uncanny than any scarecrow flapping in the wind Knowing this, the head master of an Austrian school has patented an electric scarecrow system in which a clock makes the connections at irregular intervals to electric bells scattered over the orchard.

Ready With Suggestion.

A superintendent of a city Sunday school endeavored to give the summer meetings added attractiveness. Upon a certain warm Sunday lemonade was served At the close of the service the superintendent announced that slips of paper would be passed round and the pupils allowed to make suggestions as to methods of making the meetings still more attractive One youngster wrote: "Put more sugar in the lemonade"

Didn't Concern Him.

John Wesley had a reputation for cheerfulnes In his journal he writes. "I preached in Halifax to a civil, senseless congregation Three or four gentlemen put me in mind of the honest man at London who was so gay and unconcerned while Doctor Sherlock was preaching concerning the Day of Judgment. One asked 'Do you not hear what the doctor says?' He answered, 'Yes, but I am not of his parish!'"

Valuable By-Products.

Albumen is made from blood secured at the packing houses and used for setting the colors of printed fabrics Ashes from the hickory and cobs used in smoking meats are used for fertilizer. Certain hard bone is ground up and used for case hardening steel In this process the steel implement is heated while immersed in the powdered bone Glue is made from the hoofs and sinews of animals.

ing a coat and hat belonging to Peter Mullen, a conductor on the Panhandle road, was fined $1 and costs, and sent three months to jail. The coat and hat were hung up in a coach of the train, and were taken near Burgettstown while Penny was a passenger on the train.

Nick Patch, of Hackett, admitted selling liquor without license, to minors and on Sunday. He was given a total sentence of $600 and costs and four months and ten days in jail.

Max Sewred, a foreigner, charged with passing a danger sign in the mines at Cherry Valley, was fined $1 and costs. Sewred does not appear to be very bright, and was hardly responsible for what he did. He has a wife and three children in the old country

Robush Sacovish, charged with passing a danger board in the mines at Marianna, was fined $25 and costs.

Harry Williams, better known as "Rabbitt" Williams, was again before the court. Rabbit had been on one of his usual sprees and had taken from Mrs. Catherine Engle, of Washington, a gold watch and chain. Rabbit's great fault is his fondness for drink. He has spent the greater part of his time in jail, and when incarcerated is employed as jail cook. He was fined $1 and costs and sent to jail for three months and will be employed at his old trade.

William Farthing, of Monongahela, charged with desertion and non-support, was before the court on an attachment. He was formerly paroled upon his agreement to return to work at the Liggett Spring & Axle works, near Monongahela, where he had been employed, and to support his wife. He violated his parole, did not return to work, did not support his wife, and had gone to Pittsburg, where he was arrested. He was directed to pay so much towards the support of his wife, pay the costs and to give bond in the sum of $500 for the faithful compliance with the order.

Andy Kamkis and John Wicchuff, miners, charged with violating the mining laws by traveling a motor road without permission at Ellsworth entered pleas of guilty. Each were fined $25 and costs.

THE DOCTOR'S QUESTION

Much Sickness Due to Bowel Disorders

A doctor's first question when consulted by a patient is, "Are your bowells regular?" He knows that 98 per cent of illness is attended with inactive bowels and torpid liver, and that this condition must be removed gently and thoroughly before health can be restored.

Rexall Orderlies are a positive, pleasant, and safe remedy for constipation and bowel disorders in general. We are so certain of their great curative value that we promise to return the puchaser's money in every case when they fail to produce entire satisfaction.

Rexall Orderlies are eaten like candy, they act quietly, and aid in producing a soothing, strengthening healing influence on the entire intestinal tract. They do not purge, gripe cause nausea, flatulence, excessive looseness, diarrhoea, or other annoying effects. They are especially good for children, weak persons, or old folks Three sizes, 10c, 25c, and 50c. Sold only at our store—The Rexall Store, Carroll's Drug Store, 623 Fallawfield Ave., Charleroi, Pa.

Goat's Milk Highly Valued.

There are scores of foreign writers and medical experts who advocate the use of goat's milk for infants and invalids In fact there are sanitariums in France and Switzerland that give goat's milk a prominent place in their systems of care The milk is specially recommended for infants because of its similarity in composition to mother's milk.

We Want to See You=====

We'll Treat You Rightly

We know you don't like to be pulled and hauled all over the store, passed through the gauntlet of clerks and finally turned over to the proprietor simply because you don't find what you want, and you don't want some little whippersnapper of a clerk to insist upon your taking what you don't want. You have, doubtlessly been through this ordeal, and vowed that you would never go into that store again. You're right--you don't have to.

Shoes should stand on their merits and a first-class shoe house always has a large enough assortment for a customer to be suited without having something forced on him which he forever dislikes. Come our way. If we cannot possibly suit you we will treat you kindly just the same. One thing certain —if you can't find anything to suit you in our store, you can't find it in Charleroi. And, furthermore, if you don't find that our prices are right, don't spend a cent with us. Fair proposition hey?
